Green Tea Health Benefits – Revitalize From Within

The four primary polyphenols in green tea are collectively referred to as catechins. Powerful antioxidants, catechins in recent studies have shown to slow aging, fight viruses, and have a beneficial effect on health. Clinical tests have shown that catechins destroy free radicals and have far-reaching positive effects on the entire body. High quality green teas contain more polyphenols than ordinary teas.

Epigallocatechin gallate (EGCG), an antioxidant found in green tea, is 100 times more effective than vitamin C and 25 times more effective than vitamin E at protecting cells and DNA from damage believed to be linked to cancer, heart disease and other serious illnesses.

- Lowers cholesterol – from green tea antioxidants.
- Fights cancer – Many studies have shown that green tea catechins are effective at preventing cancer.
- Immune system booster – from green tea high concentrations of polyphenols and flavonoids.
- Reduces high blood pressure – Green tea represses angiotensin II which leads to high blood pressure.
